These pure bred Gun Dogs are all business in the field. They're also the stars of the new web series...

Sweet Point's Setter Tales.

Sweet Lou has established himself as a superior gun dog. At 60 pounds, this Blue Belton male is the only English Setter in Iowa to earn the prestigious American Kennel Club Master Hunter title. Empowered by an intense desire to leave no bird behind, Lou has a style all his own that is amazing to watch.

Adeline is a 45 pound tri-color female. Her close-working, methodical style is perfect for the foot hunter. Addie has a nose for locating downed birds and her tracking ability has added several roosters to the game bag that would have otherwise been lost. She is presently training for her AKC Master Hunt Title.

THE TEAM: Wade Kisner hunted Iowa's most dangerous criminals for 32 years as a special agent for the Iowa Division of Criminal Investigation. Now he hunts with his English Setters for fun! The owner of Sweet Point Setters, Wade trains and raises Master Hunter quality English Setters. He began training and hunting English Setters exclusively in 2008 after he was given what turned out to be a special dog, Sweet Lou. Since then, Wade has traveled with Sweet Lou to hunting destinations all over the Midwest pursuing pheasant and quail.

Tyler Kisner is the second member of the Sweet Point's Setter Tales crew and Wade's eldest son. Tyler began hunting as a youngster, accompanying his Dad on pheasant hunts in Iowa and South Dakota. Continuing a family legacy of service in law enforcement, Tyler has been employed as a deputy sheriff for well over a decade. His patrol experience includes a five year assignment to the tactical unit, offering him a special credibility on firearm safety and usage in the field.

THE SHOW: Coupled with their passion for gun dogs and upland bird hunting, Wade and Tyler have now launched the new hunting series entitled Sweet Point's Setter Tales.

Chronicling the lives and adventures of their two English Setters, Sweet Lou and Adeline, Setter Tales utilizes awesome camera work and guest stars to offer engaging, entertaining and surprisingly touching stories. When added to the educational element provided by interviews and training segments, you'll find that Sweet Point's Setter Tales is a show you won't want to miss!
